PRODUCT MANAGER -- SHELFSENSE RETAIL TECH (8 months)

Built internal tools for an e-commerce fulfilment team adjacent to logistics; did not personally execute customs, freight-forwarding, or carrier operations work. Spent time on the warehouse floor observing pick-and-pack flows to understand fulfilment bottlenecks before building tools. Created a returns-tracking spreadsheet tool used by my immediate 4-person team. No evidence it was adopted by any other team, though two teammates suggested sharing it more broadly. Owned the returns-tracking module with some autonomy, but the Head of Operations set overall direction and signed off on every significant change before it shipped. Day-to-day iteration decisions were mine; the roadmap direction was not.

Tracked weekly return-rate metrics on shipped changes. No documented instance of killing or pivoting a feature based on this data, though the metrics were reviewed in team syncs. User feedback on the returns tool came through the customer support team's weekly digest, not from direct conversations with users. Sat in on two support calls but did not lead them.

PRODUCT ANALYST -- SHELFSENSE RETAIL TECH (prior, 6 months)

Compiled fulfilment metrics for the operations team before moving into the PM role above.
